HEAD OF MIDDLE SCHOOL - Years 7 to 9 Pulteney Grammar School, Adelaide

Founded in 1847, Pulteney Grammar School is a leading co-educational Anglican school woven into the fabric of Adelaide. Defined by a tradition of innovation, Pulteney Grammar School provides an education that positions its 1,000 students, and within this its Middle School students of approximately 250, to prosper. Uniquely located on one site within the CBD, Pulteney is an active and proud member of the City of Adelaide and enjoys a rich and vibrant Old Scholars community characterised by an authentic belonging.

With the appointment of a new Principal at the commencement of 2020, Pulteney is in an exciting phase of its rich history. The School now seeks to appoint a Head of Middle School who is a knowledgeable and dynamic educator with demonstrated experience and proven ability to:

- Articulate and implement innovative and contemporary education programs
- Align an educational philosophy with a strategy focussed on developing a student culture of inclusion; nurturing character, personal growth and achievement
- Build and sustain a staff culture of professional excellence and high performance
- Build quality relationships with students that support their positive sense of identity and love of learning
- Advocate for and engage with the School community and continue to build productive and collaborative partnerships with the broader community
- Commit to personal professional learning and continuous improvement

Reporting directly to the Principal and a member of a dynamic Leadership Team, this exceptional opportunity will appeal to a contemporary and forward thinking leader who has worked within a similarly high performing, school culture. The position attracts a competitive remuneration package and relocation consideration.
