

Head of Student Engagement & Wellbeing

The David Scott School is an independent, specialist senior secondary school located in Frankston created to re-engage in education, vulnerable and disconnected young people for whom the mainstream educational settings have not provided conditions for success. The School delivers a strength based, holistic approach to meet the needs of young people experiencing situational complexity.

The School is seeking an experienced and dedicated educator who has proven ability to work collaboratively to:

- Lead the development, implementation and evaluation of student engagement initiatives and wellbeing services
- Build quality relationships with students that support their positive sense of identity and engagement in learning
- Professionally develop, support and manage staff to achieve a high performing and inclusive culture that is consistent with the values and ethos of the Brotherhood of St Laurence
- Manage risk and compliance, including record keeping in relation to student wellbeing
- Actively engage School families/care givers and advocate for the School across the broader community
- Manage and resolve complex issues to the benefit of students and the School

Reporting to and operating within the general direction of the Principal, the Head of Student Engagement and Wellbeing plays a vital role on the Leadership team and is integral to the success of the School.

This exceptional opportunity will appeal to an experienced professional who would enjoy the opportunity to be involved with the Brotherhood of St Laurence in its key offerings. A competitive remuneration package applies.

For further information and a confidential discussion, please contact Neville Lyngcoln, Principal Consultant of Lyngcoln Consulting on 0427 530582 or email neville@lyngcolnconsulting.com.au

Applications close at 5pm (EST) on Saturday 14 November.

Brotherhood of St Laurence
Working for an Australia free of poverty

0511YNG

An Initiative of the Brotherhood of St. Laurence